

Which item doesn't belong?

Some pharmacies are choosing not to sell tobacco products because:

- It doesn't fit their mission of providing health products and services.
- Reducing the availability of tobacco products helps people to quit.
- Selling tobacco products in pharmacies makes tobacco use seem more acceptable to children.

We thank all the pharmacies that have made this decision and have proven their commitment to supporting the health of our community.